

The Astronaut

Written by Wong Chun Ki (5B)

The astronaut was driving across a wide crater when suddenly his lunar rover began to sink into the moon dust.

‘Oh no!’ said the astronaut. ‘I should stop it; otherwise, I will die very soon!’ He pulled the control stick to control his lunar rover, but it was still sinking into the moon dust. Then he switched off the engine of his lunar rover but it was still sinking. He felt very puzzled and scared.

At that time, an alien destroyed his lunar rover and the astronaut fell over the moon. Fortunately, he flew into the Earth and landed safely. He was mad with the alien who destroyed his lunar rover because he had to buy a new one.
