Written by Li Ka Hei (5B)

Once upon a time, there was a fast food shop. The cook of the fast food shop was a chicken. The food in the fast food shop was very yummy. Everyone wanted to open a big restaurant but the chicken cook didn't want to. He just wanted to have a mini fast food shop.

The chicken cook was very busy because the customers liked to go to the fast food shop. The chicken cook was delighted because he earned a lot of money to buy anything he wanted.

One day, another fast food shop opened nearby. The cook was a pretty lady called Catherine who had black big eyes, a small nose, a small mouth and long hair. She could cook delicious food such as eggs, noodles, pizza, steak, seafood and desserts.

Most of the customers went to Catherine's fast food shop. The chicken cook was very upset.
